March 8 - 10, 2012
Coronado Island Marriott Resort & Spa
Coronado Island, San Diego, CA

overview

Rapidly evolving changes in our healthcare delivery and financing systems have lead some to question the future role of the medical staff. Rather than diminishing their function, the changes require a stronger medical staff organization, one with effective leaders who can work together and with their organization's administration to ensure that decisions are made in the best interest of quality care and patient safety. Unfortunately, many physicians lack the required training to lead a medical staff. The goal of Stepping Up To Leadership is to help physicians develop skills to lead their medical staffs in promoting high quality patient care.

"I found this program extremely useful & would like to see more training programs like this in the future. I would definitely encourage attendance of my fellow medical staff leaders to future meetings."

For decades, medical staff leaders have cried out for better training to help them fulfill their roles and responsibilities in ways that better serve their patients. IMQ and PACE, with strong support and encouragement from The Physicians Foundation, created this course to fill this need. "Stepping Up to Leadership: IMQ/PACE Platinum Level Training Program for Physician Leaders" is perfectly aligned with The Physicians Foundation goal to "support new approaches and models to provide for the ongoing professional development of physicians and leadership in the healthcare arena.” First offered in March of 2011, the Stepping Up to Leadership program uses interactive teaching modalities to engage attendees. Based on the overwhelming success of the first program, The Physicians Foundation provided a second grant to enhance the program and include more interactivity. The partnership between IMQ and PACE combines IMQ’s expertise in medical staff matters with PACE’s expertise in communication and assessment to create a unique, hands-on learning exercise. Last years’ attendees strongly encouraged that this course be offered annually. Medical staffs are encouraged to bring their entire leadership team to this program.

"Excellent Conference - every physician leader should attend. If offered again I would hope to mandate attendance of my entire MEC!!"

The Institute for Medical Quality's (IMQ) mission is to be an innovative leader in improving the quality of care provided to patients across the continuum of health care. It does this by encouraging, developing and implementing programs which effectively measure and improve the quality of care provided to people in California and beyond. What makes IMQ special is its heavy emphasis on education, counseling, and direct involvement of practicing physicians. Its programs include ambulatory care facility accreditation, the Consolidated Accreditation and Licensure Survey (CALS), Continuing Medical Education (CME) accreditation and certification, correctional health care accreditation and membership, peer review and medical staff consultations, medical ethics, and a wide array of educational programs. IMQ is a 501 (c) (3) non-profit subsidiary of the California Medical Association. (Visit imq.org to learn more.)

Since 1996, the UC San Diego Physician Assessment and Clinical Education (PACE) Program has committed itself to promoting a culture of ongoing quality improvement and professional development in the medical field. The PACE Program is the largest assessment and remediation program for healthcare professionals in the country, and has provided services to over 2,000 physicians and medical professionals, including podiatrists, physician assistants, and nurses. The PACE Program also offers physician monitoring services through our Physician Enhancement Program (or PEP) and a number of continuing professional development (also known as continuing medical education) courses. (Visit paceprogram.ucsd.edu to learn more.)
